We feel obligated to make one comment to the students who gave the "Bronx cheer" to the game officials, when their names were announced over the public address system at the start of the ICUK game 11 days ago.

Possibly no harm was meant by this booing. However, hundreds of radio listeners all over the State heard the Kentucky students boo two officials who, at that time, had not even blown a whistle.

Hundreds heard some unthinking students boo two men - the first a former major league haseball pitcher, and the second official a former All-American basketball player here at UK and one of the greatest ever to play for the Big Blue. These men had done nothing to rate such an

We believe that booing, except in extremely rare cases, is entirely un-ealled for at a collegiate basketball game. This holds true not only for officials but players of the opposing team. Remember the visiting players and officials judge the entire school by the conduct of our students at the game. Let's conduct ourselves just as well as those Kentucky players down there on the court.

Rupp Starting 19th Campaign As Wildcat Coach

Adolph Frederick Rupp, Kentucky's affable wizard of hardwood magie, is justly referred to as "The Baron of Basketball."

The unparalleled success of Rupp's Kentucky teams over the past 18 seasons—a tenure longer than that enjoyed by any other U.K. athletic mentor—has proven the aptness of this mythical title of noblity. If there ever was a Baron in the field of basketball, Rupo would be a likely ehoice for the distinction by reason of his enviable record and amazing ability to turn out traditionally top-noteh cage aggregations year

Currently tutoring his nineteenth edition of Wildcat basketeers in de-fense of three top hardwood titles the Southeastern Conference erown, national collegiate championship, and Olympic Games co-championship of the world, the erafty professor is bothered most by an almost unprecedented condition - that of no new fields to conqueor.

Rupp's eage accs over the past five seasons have annexed virtually every team and individual honor available in the world of basketball. Five Kentucky players were named All-Americans, eight were selected all-Conference players, the entire U.K. firrst string was placed on the first All-SEC honor quintet of 1947, and individual members of the squad have eaptured such honors as "Player of the eYarr," "Most Valuable Player to Appear in Madison Square Garden," and "Most Valuable Player of the NCAA Tourna-

Highlights in the team record include 139 victories against only 14 defeats during the flve-year period —a .908 winning percentage, an un-broken strlng of 66 consecutive vle-tories on their home floor, partlelpation by invitation in five national tournaments and the Olympic Games, and annexation of the co-Olympie-championship of the world undisputed national collegiate cham-plonship (Olympic Trials college bracket), NCAA and National Invi-tational tournament champlonships, and Southeastern Conference championship five tlmes. The 'Cats have taken the SEC titles 11 times during Rupp's 18-year reign and have maintalned continuous possession of the erown since the 1943-44 season.

The 1947-48 Wildeat cage aggregation probably was one of the greatest basketball teams in the history of the sport. Few, if any, teams achieved the outstandin success against major opposition that carried last year's Kentucky quintet through regular season and national mpetition with wins against 3 losses, one of the latter against the AAU champlon Phlliips Oilers In the finals of the Olympie Trlals. They captured the champlouship of the SEC conference, the Eastern Division and NCAA national tourney titles, and won the right to place five men on the U.S. Olympic basketbal entry by virtue of victory in the college bracket of the Olympic Trials tournament. In the Olympic Games, the U.K. eagers-played as both a team unit and as individuals aided in the American sweep to the world basketball championship in eight straight games.

Far from being surpassed by his wonderful Wildeats, the Baron himself has scaled the pinaeles of basketball fame. In 1944, he won the (Continued on Page Three)

Coach Rupp is variously known as "The Baron," "Old Rupp and Ready," and "The Man in the Brown 10 Suit," the latter sobriquet stemming from his manla for brown. While he was still eoachlng high school basketball teams, Rupp discovered that his teams lost when he wore blue suits, and he has been wearing

The Baron feets he's a pretty good coach. In a game several years ago he got excited and began yelling information to his boys. Finally the referee tacked a technical foul on him for eoaching from the bench. After the game was over, he was asked by a spectator what he thought of the official's action against him. "Hell," said Rupp, "my coaching is worth a technical foul any time!"

He was the tenth coach in the history of the Naismith sport to be so honored by Helms Athletic Foundation, quasi-official organization selecting outstanding players, coaches and teams. That war year of 1944 saw Rupp call the mountains to Mohamed and come un with a force of gangling youngsters, fresh out of high school and not yet called up by the armed services. He miraculously built them into a hardwood unit which eked out a record of 19 wins against but two defeats, annexed the SEC erown and lost out to the Redmen of St. John's by a stim, threepoint margin in a Madison Square Garden invitational tournament hat-

Coach Rupp also has achieved : host of equal and lesser basketball honors during his career at Kentucky, including selection as "Coach of the eYar" last season by a national sports magazine. In the balloting, Rupp polled more votes than all of the rival nommees for the special distinction combined.

Colorful as he is successful, the Baron also is a Kentucky 'Colonel" and is otherwise known through the medium of the press and radio by such epithets as "The Man In The Brown Suit," and "Ol' Rupp and Ready," The former description stems from Rupp's manne for brown. FOR YOURSELF!

NO THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS!

MAKE YOUR OWN 30-DAY CAMEL MILDNESS TEST. Smoke Camels, and only Camels, for 30 days. Prove for yourself just bow mild Camels are!

Hundreds of men and women, from coast to coast, recently made a similar test. They smoked an average of one to two packs of Camels a day for 30 days. Their throats were examined by noted throat specialists. After a total of 2 i70 examinations-these throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

But prove it yourself ... in your "T-Zone." Let YOUR OWN TASTE tell you about the rich, full flavor of Camel's choice tobaccos. Let YOUR OWN THROAT give the good news of Camel's cool, cool mildness.

Money - Back Suarantee!

Try Camels and test them as you smoke them. If, at any time, you are not convinced that Camels are the mildest cigarette you ever smoked, return the package with the unused Camels and we will refund its full purchase price, plus postage. Bryant Praises '48 Team; Is Optimistic For 1949 last week reported, high praise for the 1948 Wildeats. Excerpts from his

"I'd like for my boy to play on a winner, but more than that I'd like for him to play on a team like this one." The speaker was Bear Bryant. and the team to which he was referring was his own University of Kentucky outfit, the third Wildcat entry he has sent to the post since he came to the local school early in

The Wildcats this fall didn't sweet the card, didn't land any kind of a bowl berth, but their coach is proud

"I think the kids did a tremendous job, getting up off the floor the way they did," Eryant exclaimed. "I lot of character to come back after losing three straight and thei refuse to be hicked in our last is

No, the coach said, this year': team didn't have the talent that Kentucky had last year when an 8-1 record was compiled no player o calibre of Jay Rhodemyre, no tackle play of the type that Wash Serin provided at times, no offensive guard like Matt Lair.

Kentucky's defense wasn't near a good as'it was last year (the opposition got 73 points in 11 games last fall. 128 in 10 the past season), but it got a lot better toward the last when injured mainstays got back ir action. The Wildcats were the only foe among 10 to hold Tennessee scoreless, the only opponent among nine to deny Miami at least one

"We were hurt early just where we couldn't afford to be hurt—in the middle of the line and in linebackers," Bryant commented.

"And we had our toughest games early, the three we lost, and the if Lee Truman hadn't been hurt at shoot upward in 1949. the start of the game, and had played as he did against Mississippi, we would have beaten Georgia."

Education of these girls at other institutions in many cases has been inconvenient and more expensive. Some callosities, women students have been lorced to postpone their college careers.

Bin Dr. Donovan's plea for additional dorminory facilities is not based Simply on a short-term need. Unfortunately, this temporary housing shortage can cause a long-range hurt to the University. Rapid deterioration of temporary housing makes it impermive that it be replaced within the nex live years by permaneut! buildings. Unless this is done the University cannot even maintain its presem enrollment.

There is another reason why Kentucky must maintain the University's expansion program. University planners have been forced to readjust building plans to conform with the birth rate since 1942. The impreredented baby crop of the past six years will begin, in 1948, to be left at the University in imprecedented freshmen enrollments. Even assuming that the present prosperity abates before that time, University estimates place 1958 enrollments at a probable 10,000 students. Upon our current ellorts to prepare the University for its coming needs will rest the educational late of these Kentuckians, and incidentally the standard of living in our State.

They study many things. How to speed your voice across the street or around the world. How to keep your voice natural in tone and volume. How to make central office equipment capable of switching your call even faster. How to produce in laboratories the materials which are hard to get in their natural form—quartz, for instance. How to conserve the scarce metals which go into wire and cable, by making one circuit carry many conversations.

· From such studies they learn how to make your service better and better, and keep its cost low.
